

PSYCHPRO

Privacy Policy

Effective date: June 2026 Last updated: June 2026

This Privacy Policy explains how PsychPro (“PsychPro,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) collects, uses, shares, and protects information about you when you use the PsychPro website, applications, and related services (collectively, the “Service”). PsychPro is a study platform for neuroscience and neuropsychology learners, including students, educators, and professionals.

By using the Service, you agree to the collection and use of information in accordance with this Policy. If you do not agree, please do not use the Service.

1. Information We Collect

We collect the following categories of information:

1.1 Account and Identity Information

When you create an account, our authentication provider collects information needed to identify you and secure your account, which may include your email address and a unique account identifier. We use a third-party authentication service to manage sign-in and account credentials.

1.2 Profile Information You Provide

If you choose to complete a profile, you may provide:

- Display name — the name shown to you and, where applicable, to other members.
- Current role and institution — for example, your area of study or affiliation (optional).
- Bio — a short free-text introduction (optional).
- Interests — topic tags you select to personalize matching and content (optional).
- Profile photo — an image you upload (optional).

1.3 Learning and Usage Data

As you use the Service, we collect data about your learning activity so that we can provide progress tracking and improve the product. This includes study progress, quiz attempts, practice exam attempts, streaks, usage counts, and feature interactions.

1.4 Content You Upload

If you use custom study deck features, you may upload files (such as PDF, DOCX, or TXT documents) or paste text. This source material is stored to generate study tools for you and is processed as described in Section 3. Please do not upload material you are not permitted to share, and avoid including sensitive personal or third-party information you do not wish to process.

1.5 Billing Information

If you purchase a subscription, payments are processed by our third-party payment processor. We do not store your full payment card details. We retain limited billing-related identifiers (such as a customer identifier, subscription identifier, and your current subscription tier) to manage your access to paid features.

1.6 Communications and Feedback

If you contact us or submit feedback, we collect the contents of your message and any contact details or role information you choose to include.

1.7 Technical and Device Information

We may automatically collect technical information such as a browser-scoped identifier stored locally on your device, error and diagnostic logs, and general usage information necessary to operate, secure, and troubleshoot the Service.

2. How We Use Your Information

We use the information we collect to:

- Provide, maintain, and operate the Service, including your account and learning progress.
- Generate study materials, including AI-assisted tools created from content you upload or paste.
- Process subscriptions, manage paid access, and handle billing through our payment processor.
- Personalize content and, where you opt in, suggest connections with other members who share your interests.
- Respond to your feedback, questions, and support requests.
- Monitor, secure, and improve the Service, including diagnosing technical issues and preventing abuse.
- Comply with legal obligations and enforce our Terms of Service.

3. AI Processing of Uploaded Content

Certain features use a third-party artificial intelligence provider to generate study materials such as flashcards, quizzes, and study guides. When you use these features, the relevant portion of your uploaded or pasted source material is transmitted to that provider to produce the requested output. We send only the content needed to fulfill your request. We do not use your uploaded or pasted content to train third-party AI models, and we do not sell it or use it for purposes unrelated to providing the Service to you. We encourage you to review the practices of our AI provider and to avoid submitting sensitive information you do not wish to be processed by a third party.

4. Community and Networking Features

PsychPro may offer optional community and networking features. These features are governed by your preferences and operate on a double opt-in basis:

- Connection suggestions are shown only if you enable the relevant preference, and you are suggested to others only when you have also enabled it.
- Email introductions occur only when both members have opted in. When both sides agree, we facilitate a one-time introduction by email. Your email address is not displayed within the app interface itself.
- Featured work submissions display your profile details to others only if you enable the corresponding preference.

You can change these preferences at any time in your profile settings. Turning a preference off stops future sharing associated with that preference.

5. How We Share Information

We do not sell your personal information. We share information only in the following circumstances:

- Service providers — with vendors who perform services on our behalf, such as authentication, payment processing, AI generation, hosting, and email delivery, under obligations to protect your information.
- Other members — with other users only through the opt-in community features described in Section 4, and only the information those features are designed to share.
- Legal and safety — when we believe disclosure is necessary to comply with law, enforce our terms, or protect the rights, safety, or property of PsychPro, our users, or the public.
- Business transfers — in connection with a merger, acquisition, financing, or sale of assets, subject to the protections described in this Policy.

6. Data Retention

We retain your information for as long as your account is active or as needed to provide the Service, comply with legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements. You may request deletion of your account and associated personal information as described in Section 8. Note that some technical identifiers are tied to your device or browser storage; clearing that storage may affect access to data associated with it.

7. Data Security

We use reasonable administrative, technical, and organizational measures designed to protect your information, including encrypted transport for data in transit. No method of transmission or storage is completely secure, and we cannot guarantee absolute security. You are responsible for keeping your account credentials confidential.

8. Your Rights and Choices

Depending on your location, you may have rights regarding your personal information, which may include the right to access, correct, delete, or port your data, and to object to or restrict certain processing. You can:

- Update your profile information and communication preferences in your account settings.
- Adjust community and networking preferences at any time.
- Request access to or deletion of your personal information by contacting us.

To exercise any of these rights, contact us using the details in Section 13. We will respond consistent with applicable law. We will not discriminate against you for exercising your rights.

9. International Users

PsychPro may be operated from, and use service providers located in, jurisdictions that may differ from your own. Where we transfer personal information across borders, we take steps designed to ensure appropriate protection consistent with applicable law.

10. Illinois Residents

This section applies to residents of the State of Illinois and reflects our practices under Illinois law, including the Personal Information Protection Act (815 ILCS 530) and the Biometric Information Privacy Act (740 ILCS 14).

10.1 Security of Personal Information

We implement and maintain reasonable security measures designed to protect personal information about Illinois residents from unauthorized access, acquisition, use, modification, disclosure, or destruction, consistent with the Personal Information Protection Act. When personal information is no longer needed, we take reasonable steps to dispose of it securely so that it is unreadable or unrecoverable.

10.2 Data Breach Notification

In the event of a breach of the security of the system involving unencrypted personal information of Illinois residents, we will notify affected individuals in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the Personal Information Protection Act. Where a breach affects more than 500 Illinois residents, we will also notify the Illinois Attorney General as required by law. Our notification will describe the nature of the breach, the type of personal information involved, and steps you can take to help protect yourself.

10.3 Biometric Information

PsychPro does not collect, capture, or use biometric identifiers or biometric information as defined by the Biometric Information Privacy Act. Specifically, although you may upload a profile photo, we do not perform facial recognition, do not scan or extract facial geometry, and do not use uploaded images to identify you or any other person. Your profile photo is stored and displayed only as described in this Policy. We do not sell, lease, trade, or otherwise profit from any biometric information.

11. Children's Privacy

The Service is intended for users who are at least the age of majority in their jurisdiction, or who use the Service under the supervision of an institution or responsible adult where permitted. We do not knowingly collect personal information from children under the age at which consent is required under applicable law. If you believe a child has provided us with personal information, please contact us so we can take appropriate action.

12. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. When we make material changes, we will update the "Last updated" date above and, where appropriate, provide additional notice. Your continued use of the Service after changes take effect constitutes acceptance of the revised Policy.

13. Contact Us
